½ lb (225g) cauliflower florets, chopped
1 lb (450g) broccoli florets, chopped

Lamb Chops with Herb Butter

4 servings

Note: Look at the turnip gratin recipe below, it is served together with the lamb chops!

Ingredients

8 lamb chops
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 lemon
Salt and pepper
Herb butter

Instructions

1. Let the chops reach room temperature before they are fried or grilled. The meat should not be cold when it's cooked, or it won't get a nicely brown surface. If you make a few cuts into the fat part, the chop won't curl up.
2. Fry in butter and some olive oil if you're using a frying pan. If you're grilling, just brush on some olive oil before placing the chops on the grill.
3. Fry for 3–4 minutes, depending on how thick the chops are. Really thick chops will need a longer cooking time. However, it's OK for lamb to be a little pink inside.

½ teaspoon salt
A pinch black pepper

Instructions

1. Preheat the oven to 400°F (200°C).
2. Peel the onion and turnip. Slice both very thinly – ideally with a mandolin or food processor.
3. Finely chop the chives and/or the garlic. Alternate with slices of onion and turnip in a greased baking dish, but save some of the cheese to go on top. Salt and pepper to taste.
4. Add cream or coconut milk (discard most of the excess coconut liquid) and put the cheese on top. Bake for about 30 minutes.

Dinner Recipes

Cauliflower Lasagna

4 servings

Ingredients

1 lb (500 g) ground beef
1 yellow onion
3 garlic cloves
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1 can (400 g) crushed tomatoes
1 tablespoon beef bouillon
4 fl. oz. (120 ml) red wine
1 teaspoon salt
1 pinch black pepper
Butter for frying
Cheese Sauce
8 fl. oz. (236 ml) sour cream
4 fl. oz. (120 ml) heavy cream
4 oz. (120 g) full-fat cheese
Salt and white pepper
Lasagna Sheets
1 medium sized cauliflower head
4 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 pinch black pepper
4 oz. (120 ml) grated parmesan cheese for the topping

Instructions

1. Set the oven to 400°F (200°C).
2. Start with the bolognese. Fry the ground beef in butter and put in a thick-bottomed pot. Chop onion and garlic finely and fry in butter, and add the tomato paste. Put the fried onion, garlic and tomato paste in the pot and pour in crushed tomatoes. Season with bouillon, red wine, salt and black pepper and let simmer for about 20 minutes.
3. Now start with the lasagna sheets. Place a parchment paper in a large baking pan and grease with oil. Grate a medium-sized cauliflower head in a food processor. The cauliflower should be finely grated. Place the grated cauliflower in a bowl and cook for two minutes on high in the microwave oven. Stir and microwave for two more minutes.
4. Let the grated cauliflower cool and place in a baking cloth (towel) and squeeze the liquid out by tying and wringing the towel. Almost a cup of liquid has to come out, the rice has to be dry.

5. Put the cauliflower rice – about 3 cups (700 ml) – eggs and spices in a bowl and stir them together. Spread the batter on to the parchment paper and bake on lower rack of the oven for about 15 minutes. Remove and let cool. Cut into adequate-sized pieces (like lasagna sheets).

6. Bring heavy cream and sour cream to a boil, remove from heat and stir in the cheese. Add salt and pepper to taste.

7. In a deep baking dish add some bolognese, then sheets and cheese sauce. Alternate and finish up with cheese sauce and grated parmesan cheese.

8. Increase the oven temperature to 450°F (225°C) and bake for 20–30 minutes.

Induction flu

Headache, lethargy,
nausea, confusion,
brain fog, irritability

The most common side effect on low carb is what most people experience during the first week, often during days 2-4. The “induction flu”, so called as it can mimic flu-like symptoms.

Headache is very common during this period, as is feeling tired, lethargic and unmotivated. Nausea is also common. It's also possible to experience confusion or “brain fog” – feeling not at all smart. Finally it's common to feel irritable – perhaps most clearly experienced by the rest of your family.

The good news is that these symptoms usually disappear by themselves within a few days. The even-better news is that these symptoms can often be avoided altogether. The main cause is usually dehydration and/or salt deficiency, caused by a temporarily increased urination.

The Cure: Water & Salt

Salt & water Any problems can be minimized and sometimes entirely cured by getting enough water and salt into your system.

For example try adding half a teaspoon of regular salt to a large glass of water. Drink it. This may reduce or eliminate side effects in 15-30 minutes. If so, this may be repeated once daily if needed during the first week.

A better-tasting option is to use broth, e.g. chicken, beef or bone broth.

The Bonus: More Fat

Make sure to eat enough fat. Going low carb, low fat is a recipe for starvation and feeling hungry and tired. You should never endure hunger as you start low carb. A proper low-carb diet contains enough fat to feel satisfied and energetic. This can speed up the transition and minimize the time spent feeling low when starting low carb.

So how do you get enough fat when eating low carb? There are any number of options, but when in doubt add butter to whatever you're eating.

If Necessary

If adding salt and water (and fat) do not completely eliminate the induction flu the best option is usually to hang in there. Any remaining symptoms are likely to be resolved within days, as the body adapts to low carb and turns into a fat-burning machine.

If necessary it's of course possible to have some carbs and make the transition to low carb more gradual and slower. This is not recommended as a first option, as it slows down the process and makes the benefit of weight loss etc. less immediately noticeable.

Other Common Side-Effects

Other common side effects are leg cramps, constipation, bad breath, heart palpitations and reduced physical performance.

To avoid these side effects, go to dietdoctor.com/side-effects.
